No Sharp Drop in State Enrollment

New Draft Deferment Policies Outlined

Some 30,000 college men across the nation last week received an unexpected graduation gift from selective service in the form of an extra 30 day draft deferment. The postponement is to enable mid-term graduating seniors to get jobs in industries essential to the "maintenance of national health, safety and interest." and interest."

During the 30-day period, seniors who land those essential jobs may inform their draft boards of their new status and be considered for further deferment.

There was good news recently, too, for undergraduates, who are deferred by law until the end of the school year, when the selective service board canceled a ruling which has caused many college men to quit school. The new ruling gives a student who gets a pre-induction notice the right to volunteer for the armed service of his choice; under the old order, any student getting a draft call was automatically inducted into the army.

UNTIL END OF YEAR

The new order permits college men to wait until practically the end of the school year before choosing the branch of the armed forces in which they prefer to serve. All branches will accept enlistments in April and May; the enlistees will not be called for induction until the term is over.

Here at State the number of students enlisting rather than wait for the draft was an average of 15 a day shortly after Christmas. State's total of 285 students leaving is the highest in the area. St. Mary's, City College, and the College of Marin have also reported high tolls.

Incoming freshmen should notify the dean of men's office immediately upon receiving their draft classification cards. Letters notifying their draft boards of their new student status will be sent out by the dean's office immediately after freshmen complete their registration. Regular students in the upper classes are eligible for a 2-A deferment until June if they have a 1.4 grade point average, which places them in the upper half of their class.

1-AP DEFERMENTS

Students with a grade point average of less than 1.4 may apply at the dean's office for a rating of 1-AP; this rating gives the student a postponement of induction until June, and enables him to complete his current classes.

It appears extremely unlikely that either veterans or 18-year-olds will be drafted. Alternatives to taking men from either group have been sought in proposals to raise the draft age to 28, two years above present limit, and to draft non-veterans who have married since June 25, 1950. Thousands of young men now classified at 4-F will shortly be reconsidered for induction as a further measure to supply the armed services with the number of men needed.

Seniors and Graduates Will Register Today

As seniors and graduates began registering this morning for the spring semester, no sharp decrease in student enrollment was expected here, as formerly anticipated, according to Dr. John E. Bergstresser, dean of student personnel and guidance.

"Because of a last-minute flood of applications for admission, the enrollment prospects for the coming semester have improved materially during the last few weeks," commented Dr. Bergstresser.

An over-all drop in the enrollment of bay area colleges is anticipated because of present world conditions, a net loss of anywhere from 150 to 200 students is expected here.

Figures released on January 30 reveal that 300 students graduated and that there were 370 withdrawals, for a loss of 670 students. To offset this figure, there are 789 students being admitted to college. Of these, there are 256 freshmen, 348 transfers and 185 readmissions.

25 PER CENT TO SERVICE

Surprisingly enough, only 25 per cent of the withdrawals were attributed to the armed forces. The majority of those leaving college left because of financial conditions.

"We should be reasonably close to last semester's enrollment of 5226 students. I feel that a determining factor for the improvement of enrollment prospects is the recent selective service edict encouraging students to try and go ahead; students who otherwise would have been inclined to enlist now," Dr. Bergstresser added.

Meanwhile, registration began unceremoniously this morning with seniors and graduates enrolling. Juniors are slated to register tomorrow, with sophomores registering Thursday and freshmen on Friday. Registration hours are scheduled as follows:

A to C	12:30 - 1:30
D to G	8:00 - 9:00
H to L	9:00 - 10:00
M to Q	1:30 - 2:30
R to T	10:00 - 11:00
U to Z	2:30 - 3:30

Registration will follow the same procedure as in previous semesters. All registrants will first pick up their registration books in Anderson Hall and then proceed to be cleared by the Health Center. Grades are then to be picked up in Room 1, Anderson Hall. After payment of fees, registrants will consult with their advisors in the women's gym. Detailed information may be obtained in the time schedule sold at the college book store.

Registration will be highlighted by an extensive student body card selling campaign along with the college's drive for 1000 pints of blood for the armed forces in Korea.

Basketball Fare

Gators Meet COP and Sacramento State College Cagers This Week-end

San Francisco State resumes basketball hostilities this coming week-end when it meets the College of Pacific on Friday night and Sacramento State Saturday night. Both games are non-conference contests.

The COP game is scheduled for Stockton, where the Tigers are eager to satisfy the home clientele. The last time both squads met, the Gators upset the lads from Stockton, 56-50, at the new gym, as Kevin Duggan went on a 19-point scoring spree. However, the Tigers were without the services of their ace, Bill Wirt. Since then COP has hit the comeback trail with an impressive string of wins. Largely responsible for COP's late season splurge has been the high scoring antics of their sophomore sensation, Rod Detrick.

SEEK REVENGE

The Sacramento game is scheduled for S. F. State's new campus gymnasium with the tip-off set for 8:15 p.m. Coach Dan Farmer's Gators will be out to avenge an earlier 45-43 defeat at the hands of Sacramento at the capital.

The Hornets are led by Carl Youngstrom and Regis Hurley, the two veterans who played ball together for Grant Tech's fabulous team of 1948, the same team which produced All-American Don Lofgran. Youngstrom is a local boy, having displayed his basketball wares for Oakland's Technical High School.

Duggan has a personal score to settle with the Hornets. He was held to 11 points, his second worst scoring output, and is eager to redeem himself.

Probably starting for the Gators will be John Walsh and Gly Mayfield at forwards, Kev Duggan at center, and Al Athanasopoulos and Dick Farley at guards.

Special Discounts To Card Holders

Among the many advantages offered by the ownership of an associated student body card is that of participation in the college discount plan, Ralph Lewis, business manager, announced last week.

At present discounts are available at Tony's Signal Service of Berkeley, two cents off per gallon; Little Garage, 1419 Pacific, 10 per cent off all repairs and 20 per cent off wheel balance and front end alignments; Tibbs Typewriter Co., 821 Market Street, 15 per cent off new and used portable typewriters; Sea Breeze Cleaners, 1302 Castro Street, 10 per cent off; Dryer's Pharmacy of Richmond, 10 per cent off; Band Box Cleaners, 4156 24th Avenue, 10 per cent off; Pittman Tire Co., 427 Grove, 20 per cent off new and used retreads and 20 per cent off batteries; Sea Food Bowl, San Bruno and Silver, 10 per cent off; Signal Service Station, Ninth Avenue and Lincoln Way, two cents off per gallon; and the Car Clinic, 10 per cent off.

Additional merchants will be added as the semester progresses, Lewis announced. The plan was originated by Orv Wycoff, president of International Relations Club last semester.

Greetings, Freshmen-- We Love You, Too!

Healy Athletic Board Chairman

Name Courtney Pontious As Member-at-Large

During the period between terms, the Athletic Board of Control began to function by holding its initial meeting. During their first session, many of the problems of procedure were ironed out and Jack Healy, treasurer of the associated students was elected chairman of the board.

Prior to the meeting, Burk Faraola appointed Courtney Pontious the member at large from the student body. Pontious will serve until next fall.

Voting members of the board now include Jack Healy, treasurer of the associated students; Dick Coltrell, Block S president; Dean John E. Bergstresser, Dean of Student Personnel and Guidance; and Raymond Kaufman, faculty member.

Non-voting members include Joe Verducci, director of athletics; Art Chaboya, vice president of associated students; Dr. Stanley Morse, State Far Western Conference representative; and Robert Katz, administrator of student affairs.

The newly formed board will act as a recommending board to the associated students' board of directors and board of control on matters pertaining to intercollegiate athletics. They will also determine policy for scheduling contests.

They are responsible to the president of the college and to Dean David J. Cox, head of the physical education department.

GREETINGS

The associated students of San Francisco State College extends its greetings to all the old and new students who will return this spring.

To those of you who are freshmen, don't be deceived by our physical setup. At this address we can't boast the best campus in the world, but we can point out that we have one of the best in the state in the building stage right now.

Get acquainted with all of our functions, especially those offered by the assoeiated students. You will find that membership in your student body is the key to participation and social success.

Burk Faraola,
ASSFSC President.

Request 400 Unit Campus Dorm.

The college administration announced that it has submitted a request for the construction of a 400 unit dormitory on the new campus grounds, 200 units for women and 200 for men.

Dr. John Butler, executive dean, and Dr. John E. Bergstresser, dean of student personnel and guidance, completed a survey of housing on the new campus. Dr. Butler prepared the final report setting forth the college's request and the budget necessary to finance it.

The request was approved by the department of education and by the department of finance. Two weeks ago the board of public works approved a request for $100,000 for planning money to begin immediately the drawing of plans for the two dormitory units.

Insurance Plan Offered to S. B. Card Holders

The administration of the associated student body today announced one of the most far-reaching and inclusive programs ever made available to members. Final success of the program is dependent upon the sale of student body cards during registration and the first week of the new semester.

This new program includes such things as a group health and accident insurance plan, free admission to over 25 athletic meets and six creative art productions and discounts on many types of merchandise.

Robert L. Katz, administrator of student affairs, outlined some of the details of the intensive sales campaign which will open on the first day of registration. Student body card stations will be in the lines, and if a student does not purchase a card, he will be required to fill out a questionnaire before he will be allowed to pay fees.

INSTALLMENT PLAN

A new installment plan whereby a student can purchase a temporary card for $2, with the balance payable on or before February 23, is offered to those who find it awkward to pay the full price during registration. Price of the card is $8, the same as last semester.

During the last meeting of the board of directors, a group accident and sickness insurance plan, offered by the college division of the Mutual Benefit Health and Accident Association, was approved. Any member of the student body can purchase this policy for a cost of $6.25 for the spring semester.

The policy is primarily designed to cover hospital expenses and offers maximum benefits up to $200 for each illness. The plan was endorsed by Dr. Evelyn Ballard, college physician.

ADDITIONAL DISCOUNTS

Merchandise discounts include such items as gasoline, tires, typewriters and dry cleaning. Several business firms are now participating in this plan and many more will join if the sale of student body cards is large.

Burk Faraola, president of the student body, wishes to emphasize that only by purchase of a card can a student become a member of the student body. Ownership of a card is necessary before a student can belong to a campus organization, work on a college publication, be a member of any athletic team, or vote or hold office in the student body.

Another point stressed by the present administration is that the bulk of the sales must be made in the registration line to insure an immediate start for the enlarged program. The student body office has mailed to every student a letter briefly outlining the chief benefits available to cardholders.

However, plans for a follow-up program for those who do not buy in the registration line are already formulated. Several campus organizations have agreed to take on the task of individually contacting students who will fill out questionnaires rather than buy the card. This activity will start immediately after the beginning of classes.

Hello Day Dance Scheduled Feb. 23

Get your dates lined up, guys, as tickets are now on sale for the first social of the spring semester and the first dance at the new gym, the fourth annual Hello Day dance scheduled for Friday night, February 23.

Sponsored by Phi Eta Chi service fraternity, the dance will feature the music of Rudy Salvini and his orchestra. Tickets may be obtained from any member of the fraternity and later will be on sale in front of the Co-op in College Hall. Price is 75 cents per person, with an associated student membership card, and $1 without.

The dance is not limited to couples.

President's Message

I wish to extend a hearty welcome to the students entering State College for the first time this semester.

I hope you will quickly find your place in the student body portion of this institution, and that you will prosper in academic work.

Faculty and administrative officers stand ready to help you in any way they can.

Sincerely,
Dr. J. Paul Leonard,
President.

Robert Katz Takes Administrator Job

To Supervise Planning Of Student Affairs

Robert Lee Katz, newly appointed administrator of student affairs, will have primary supervision of the planning and general administration of student affairs.

He will act as chief administrative officer of the associated students, and shall be directly responsible to the Board of Directors in the carrying out and the formulation of such policies and decisions as voted upon by the board.

Katz will act as liaison between the students, the administration, and the faculty, and in this capacity he will work for the continuous improvement of the corporation through promotional activities, the creation of additional income and betterment of public relations.

Regarding promotional activities and all other matters involving the question of finance, the administrator will consult with the business manager, Ralph Lewis. However, the administrator will assume overall responsibility for the operation of the associated students of the college.

RESPONSIBLE TO BOARD

The business manager, as chief accounting officer of the associated students, shall also be responsible to the Board of Directors through the Board of Control. He will exercise general direction of fiscal management of student activities and enterprises, subject to the board of control, and will make recommendations and studies to insure the solvency of the corporation.

Lewis will act as co-ordinator between the business office of the associated students, the associated students cafeteria, and the associated students bookstore.

The supervision and hiring of all clerical personnel as well as the responsibility of office management will be vested in the business manager. He will consult with the administrator on matters of fiscal policy and budgets.

This is a tentative job analysis and will be revised later pending more experience with the two jobs.

Drama Tickets at Special $1 Rate

Tickets for 10 dramatic productions, with sales limited to only 400 students, will be put on sale immediately on a "first-come-first-served" basis. The 10 plays represent a minimum of $2.80 entertainment charge, but with a student body card, they will be sold for $1.

These productions will be put on in the Ferederic Burk auditorium, which has a seating capacity of only 200. Each production will play only two nights, which forces the limitation of the ticket sale.

Tickets are available either at the student body office or in the drama office, annex A-11.

The following productions are scheduled: The Farce of M. Patelin, The Intruder, A Mystery Selection, The Animal Kingdom, The Curtain Raiser, Theater of the Soul, Suor Angelica, Act I of Falstaff, Act 5 of Otello, and Five Great Scenes.

Rally Ends 3-Day Orientation

A rally yesterday afternoon planned by Bill Hansen, activities commissioner, drew to a close the three-day Orientation Program for new students.

The program, as planned by the Orientation Committee with Pat Son as student chairman, began last Friday with a Welcome Assembly in the Baptist Church. The remainder of the day was spent in meetings between the advisors and the students.

Saturday was entirely occupied with the giving of numerous types of tests.

A new type of orientation was used for Monday morning. The various divisions of the college held meetings to explain the majors within the respective divisions. The freshmen attended the division group in which they were the most interested.

Appreciation for the help given by the campus organizations was expressed by Dr. Allan Johnson, dean of men.

Blood Donor Drive Starts Today in Registration Line

Set 1000 Pint Quota For Armed Forces in Korea

The associated students of San Francisco State College swung into action today to aid the war effort by starting a campaign to secure 1000 pints of blood for the armed forces in Korea. The drive, sponsored by both the associated students and the college faculty, began this morning with the registration of prospective blood donors in the women's gymnasium. A blood mobile unit will be on this campus in the women's gymnasium February 27 and possibly March 6 and March 13.

Registration for blood donations will take place all week in the women's gymnasium, where Alpha Omega members will make appointments for applicants. A quota of over 300 pints per donation day is expected.

Young men and women under 21 years of age who are not married must bring a written permission note from their parents. A young woman between the ages of 18 and 21 who is married can give blood without permission from her parents. A young man between the ages of 18 and 21 must have a written note from his parents, regardless of his marital status.

KEEP APPOINTMENT

Mrs. Kathleen Wilson, secretary to the Dean of Women and coordinator of the drive, urged that once an appointment is made every effort must be made by the individual to keep his appointment. If he finds that he cannot keep his appointment, he should cancel it by contacting Mrs. Wilson in the Office of the Dean of Women, College Hall 106.

The medical and nursing staff of the Irwin Memorial Blood Bank of the San Francisco County Medical Society will process the donors. The staff of the San Francisco chapter of the American Red Cross will cooperate by providing beds and other equipment as well as a canteen service.

FACULTY IN DRIVE

The faculty, along with the student body, is slated to play a leading role in the drive. Last week Dean Mary A. Ward, faculty sponsor, stressed the importance of the success of the blood donation drive at a special faculty meeting. Informative mimeographed sheets were distributed to the faculty by Kappa Theta members.

Late registrants may apply next Monday, 9-12, and next Tuesday, 9-11, and 2-4, in the activities room.

The working committee consists of co-chairman Dave Woods and Dorothy Reese, general chairman; Nan McGrath and Burley Hollaran, appointment registration; Sharon McDonnell and Jack Wendt, poster publicity; Robert Preble and Greg Prichard, radio and speech publicity; Dr. George Gibson, director of public relations, and Victor Spingolo, local newspaper publicity; Connie Slater and Eleanor Goode, handout publicity, and Nancy Carter and Jean Burman, equipment and supply committee.

Regarding the drive, Dean Ward said: "This is the first school to which the blood mobile has been brought by the Irwin Memorial Blood Bank. We are looking for a donation of 1000 pints of blood and seek the cooperation of all students and faculty. A donation of 400 pints of blood is the quota for February 27. If the general student body is as enthusiastic as the student leaders, we know the blood donation drive will be a success."

VA Ruling on Ex-GI Students

Veteran students who are eligible for educational benefits under Public Law 346 should understand the regulations pertaining to the critical date for initiating their courses under the law, Mr. Harry Brakebill, college business manager announced last week.

The law provides that a course of education or training shall be initiated before the termination of four years after the date of discharge or by July 25, 1951, whichever is the later, and that such education or training cannot be afforded beyond July 25, 1956, except for those veterans who enlisted under the Voluntary Recruitment Act of October 6, 1945. Therefore, a veteran otherwise eligible must have commenced and actually be pursuing his course of education or training on July 25, 1951, or the date four years after discharge, whichever is later, except where his attendance is interrupted because of the normal interruptions for summer vacations, or other reasons beyond the control of the veteran.

For further information, veterans are asked to consult Mr. Robert Murray in the business office of the college.

New Student Administrator Grateful and Optimistic

By Bonnie Rolphe

Bob Katz will soon become a familiar figure in the college scenery as he assumes his new title as administrator of student affairs and part-time instructor of business administration.

Bob is a personable young man of 25 and looks with youthful enthusiasm toward the ensuing semester. "State represents great opportunity and a great challenge. The student body and faculty which constitute it have enormous potential, limited only by the physical plant . . . and I am very grateful for the opportunity to serve you in whatever way I can."

A graduate of the University of California in February, 1945, his past record is one of leadership and active participation. He served as president of both his senior and sophomore classes while at Cal.

Also on his list of achievements are the chairmanship positions of the judicial committee and the California Club. He was senior manager of the football team and also Battalion Commander of the Naval R.O.T.C. unit.

Bob was homecoming chairman in 1944, and a senior member of the rally committee.

EX-NAVY MAN

Following graduation Bob was commissioned in the Navy. He shipped out and encountered his first action not long after. On a light cruiser, the U.S.S. Montpelier CL57, he served in gunnery navigation as aide to the executive officer, and also as ship's personnel officer. He was discharged as a lieutenant j.g.

After his naval experience he attended the Stanford Graduate School of Business, where he received his MBA.

In June, 1948, Bob began working for Sommer & Kaufman, where following a training program, he worked up to buyer. His position at Sommer & Kaufman's terminated on the 20th of January, 1951; and on the 21st he was employed by the associated students of S.F. State College as administrator of student affairs.

Bob says that State's friendliness has impressed him, and Bob's own ready smile is also impressive. Skiing, golf, and fishing are his "great loves."

Optimistic in view of his future responsibilities, Bob says, "It is my sincerest hope that I may, with the help of all members of the student body . . . that we may make State great."

State Dept. Man Joins Faculty

Dr. Thomas Wenner, former chief of the Information and Public Affairs Branch of the State Department in Berlin, is a new addition to the faculty. He will teach two sections of Soc. Science IV, a class concerned with international and intercultural relations.

Dr. Wenner received his A. B. at Oberlin University and his M. A. at New York University. He has also done graduate work at both the University of Geneva and the University of Paris. Upon completion of his studies abroad, he received an Andrew White Teaching Fellowship at Cornell in comparative politics.

Former teaching experience includes positions at the New York University, the University of Minnesota and Cornell University. He also headed the department of political science and international affairs at the Western Reserve University in Cleveland, Ohio.

Prior to World War II, he acted as a foreign correspondent in Russia, Spain and Western Europe. During the war, he was a member of the Office of War Information and was located variously in Versailles, London, Western Germany and Berlin.

Glee Club Opens Membership Drive

Male Singers Plan to Visit Bay Area Colleges

By Doug Usedom

Men, do you like to sing? Then sign up for Men's Glee, an activity for all men students. No musical background is required.

Plans for the semester are to build the glee club to 60 members and qualify for membership in the National Association of College Men's Glee Clubs. It is planned to visit the glee clubs at the University of San Francisco and the University of California, as well as the various high schools in San Francisco. Several evening concerts are planned as well as participation in school rallies.

"Our present need is to find more members for all parts," stated Mr. H. Hollingsworth, director, "if the men can only be encouraged."

Mr. Hollingsworth has sung in outstanding professional groups and at present may be heard over KNBC singing with the "Hometown Quartet" in which he is known as Hal Gordon. Other groups which he directs are the "Popular Symphonaires" and the "Telephone Chorus."

Officers of the club are: Al Lang, president and student conductor; Dean Berg, vice president; Norman Benner, secretary; Don Zeek, librarian, and Bryce Sheldon and Bill Noales, accompanists.

Music which the glee club will sing ranges from Bach to "Dry Bones," classical, semi-classical, and popular. Two of the most popular songs which the glee club has done are "Rockin" and "Oklahoma."

The drive for new members will close February 23, which is the last day classes can be added without fee. Tryouts are not required, just register for Music 22--122, MW, 12-2. This course gives 1 unit of credit.

Positions on the Golden Gater staff are still available. Editorial positions include exchange editor, photo editor and proof readers. There is also a need for staff reporters, especially sports writers. Inquire in Hut 4-A for more information.

Campus Organizations' Constitutions Are Due

All campus organizations who have not submitted their constitutions to the office of the Dean of Women must do so at once or be placed on probation, according to Jack Wendt, chairman of the constitution committee of the Club Advisory Association.

The constitutions will be checked and then returned for possible changes if necessary. All organizations must have a satisfactory current constitution on file in the Dean of Women's office in accordance with the principles set down by the Deans Committee and the associated students in order to keep their on-campus standing, stated Wendt.

Placement Office Aids In Student Housing

Neophytes to State College can heave a sigh of relief for their housing and employment problems receive special attention here.

Anyone interested in a room and board job or part time employment should register in the Placement Office, Room 114, College Hall.

Bulletin Boards to Keep Students Posted

For the first time in the history of the college there are going to be bulletin boards for official notices. All students will be held responsible for everything appearing on these boards, according to Dr. Allan Johnson, dean of men.

They will be located at strategic points in College Hall, Anderson Hall, Frederic Burk and two or three other locations.

Esperanto Offered By College Extension Div.

Esperanto, the universal interlanguage, is being offered by the college extension division starting February 15. Classes for beginners will be held 6-8 in the evenings, while advanced students will enroll for 7-9 classes.

Joe's Welcome Message

First editions of college newspapers always seem to be built around a welcome motif, and this one is no different than any other. So, welcome to this fount of knowledge in which you just might possibly learn something if you listen to some of the gentlemen who perform in front of the classrooms.

The majority of you new people probably feel that college will be good for you in many respects. Some of you entered to beat the draft; and I hope you don't get a husband (or wife); beat working for a living, and then there is probably the old prude among you who wants an education "to further his position in life."

As to why you picked State, there are probably just as many varied reasons. Perhaps the biggest being that the requirements in this light headed place appear somewhat less strict than those of our counterparts across the bay; down the peninsula and up on top of Fulton Street.

Really, S. F. State and environs can be pretty nice if the entrant doesn't expect to see raccoon coats and huge monster type marching bands.

At first glance, the new student doesn't dwell much upon the idea that there is a faculty which has a rather strong voice in the rounding out of the student's life, although neither student nor teacher will admit it.

The grade wielders are led, ever so staunchly, by a man who bears the wonderful sounding name of J. Paul Leonard, and who is a very capable person. His name not only sounds like a gentleman of distinction, but he himself is every inch the portrayal of first class.

Every now and then he takes a trip East and creates more positive interest in S. F. State than a Notre Dame type football team could.

He and I came here together, some time around 1946, the only difference being that he brought his own degrees with him.

Some of our departments have earned quite a bit of recognition as a result of the untiring efforts of the faculty. It seems to me that the music department must really have something on the ball. They just completed a tour up and down the state and played before thousands of appreciative people.

Not only is their music good, but they must all be honest because they were quartered in private homes all during the trip.

Just imagine, those nice people trusting our orchestra to spend the night in the same house with their expensive silverware. I am quite sure that this privilege would never be extended to the journalism department.

Also, we have a good athletic department which is now looking forward to bigger and better lumps as a result of the completion of the new gym.

Last year our football team won the Far Western Conference crown and was invited to play in the Pear Bowl in Medford, Oregon.

They made a rather good showing against big time opposition, but in the last analysis it must be admitted that they became the victims of their opponent's over-confidence.

At present, the basketball team, paced by the sensational Kevin Duggan, is leading the loop.

Rumor has it that we have some yell leaders around the campus, but most of them seem to be married, so consequently their time is pretty well occupied. Even with their marital status, they do seem to create some interest at football games and such.

In the heavy reading class it should be pointed out that our social science department is rated with the best in the nation.

We have some pretty good profs dishing out the info, among them such first stringers as Dr. Louis Wasserman, the brothers Cave, Dr. George Outland, Dr. Theodore Treutlein, and Dr. George Gibson. The latter gentleman missed his calling; he should have been either a movie star or a Jesuit public relations man.

That's part of what we have here, and most of it's pretty good, so just sit back and relax, because mid-terms don't roll around for eight weeks yet.

If the faculty doesn't raise too much hell over this thing, I'll be back at this same old literary banana stand next week. Also, the editor is on my back and demands that I be like everybody else, which is to say that he wants me to meet deadlines. He couldn't think along more fallacious lines.

Exams, X-Rays on Tap This Month

All entering students are required to take a physical examination and chest X-ray, the health center announced last week. These examinations start today and will be given through February 9.

If a new student has not received an appointment for a physical examination by the time he registers, he will be given an appointment in the registration line. An appointment is not required for a chest X-ray, but it must be taken before the new student may register.

All old students must have their yearly chest X-ray before being allowed to register. Chest X-rays are given in A-113, 9-12 and 1-4 during registration days. Only in certain instances does an old student need a physical camination, and he will be so notified.

It is important that the appointment for a physical examination be kept. The fee for a missed appointment is $2, and the student will be unable to participate in a physical education class until he is cleared with the health center.

Lending Library Opens This Term

Yes, sir! Something new has been added. A lending library for textbooks is being inaugurated this semester through the efforts of Mr. Carl Zaiman, instructor in biology, and some of his B.S. 1 students.

"The purpose of the textbook library," said Mr. Zaiman, "is to assist students in a financial way. This is a good opportunity for students who would otherwise be unable to secure their textbooks until well into the semester."

Student Government at the Crossroads

Faraola Has Had Difficulty With Program

By Bob Donovan

Spring semester is upon us once more in all its full-blown horror. Spring not only heralds the bees and the birds, but another associated students' election.

In the not-so-distant past a new voting record was established when the current president, Burk Faraola, was swept into office on the heels of a reform movement which brought out 1178 votes. What has happened in the past six months to implement the program that Faraola advocated during his campaign?

There were five major planks in his platform: formulate plan opposed to bookstore restriction; re-instate the National Students Association, assist in the establishment of new organizations, help promote athletic benefits and investigate the setting up of the Golden Gater on an independent basis.

Of these, only three have been approached at all and only one has been carried through to any degree. Many efforts have been devoted to the extension of athletic benefits and somewhat lesser ones in encouraging the establishment of new organizations. The most successful field of endeavor has been in the realm of the student discount plan, which got off to a very slow start, but has gradually increased.

Unfortunately, very little has been done either on the National Students Association or the Golden Gater question. Both of these problems touched off major fireworks during the Ryan regime. NSA was thrown out because the Ryan faction maintained that the organization did not warrant the high cost of the annual dues, while the Golden Gater came under fire from the board of directors for criticisms of student body card sales, discussing FEPC and proposed faculty shifts in the athletic department.

But when Burk Faraola originally drew up his platform he could not possibly foresee the removal of the VA subsidy on student body cards or the loss of administrator of student affairs John Gray. This does, to a great extent account for his failure to carry out some of his original promises.

Faraola displayed considerable mettle in dealing with the crises which took place before the first full semester of his office began. A considerable livened up card selling plan managed to keep the red ink from spilling all over the associated students' ledgers, but the 3,000 card goal set to meet the expansion in facilities simply could not be met.

Ralph Lewis stepped into the job of acting administrator and did a very creditable job under extremely tight conditions, financially and otherwise.

In the space of six months Faraola has provided the necessary leadership for the board of directors to accomplish a series of necessary but unspectacular revisions in the student body set-up. Such things as an adequate insurance plan, selling of street car tickets, clarifying lines of athletic authority, the discount plan, re-organizing the business office and the faculty card sales program have all been instituted.

On the darker side of the ledger, the principal failure, for which Faraola assumes the blame, was the tardiness in getting the board of control into action. This failure brought about considerable confusion and quite a few conflicts, especially with the athletic department over budget appropriations.

The necessity of plunking out $1800 for temporary bleachers because the state condemned the old ones at the new campus did not help to lower Faraola's aspirin bill. If they hadn't been installed there wouldn't have been any home football game—at least with many spectators.

There is still much to be done and it is much too early to evaluate the overall accomplishments of Faraola's regime, but with an entire semester yet to go the future of the associated students looks brighter and brighter.

If there is any truth in the old adage that big things come in small packages—that's Burk Faraola.

* * * * * *

Mighty Little Faraola finds that his job is half completed. Carrying out his platform has been no easier than the fight he led to have it accepted and himself elected. This term has been no joyride; it might have been the downfall of a less determined man.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

Campus Ramblings

By Bonnie Rolphe

Freshman? So was I.

I remember when I first made State's acquaintance. I had been forewarned that it resembled an over-sized "out-house," and indeed, State did not look like any of the pictures of colleges that I had seen in various catalogues.

It doesn't take one long to realize that State is unique. It seems that the college is such a dream that the prospects of a new campus seems unimportant. State's campus may be ugly to the casual observer, but it's sort of like an old shoe . . . kind of comfortable after a while.

You become attached to College Hall and you get so you respect nature and her contributions when you see State's lone palm tree, in itself a symbol of State's uniqueness and fortitude. The palm tree is the object of many a joke, but it is cherished as an important part of the college. And then there's the senior bench, which is always being carted off to the new campus or being repainted by pranksters or pledges.

You get so you take the inconveniences in stride . . . like classes at the Salvation Army or an 8 o'clock class at the new campus.

From personal observation, the lounge is a danger point for those who are easily led by the evils of cards, while the Co-op is a good place to have a cup of coffee between (or during) classes. Some claim the bleachers are conducive to study, but I'm convinced that anything would be superior to the library.

Any discussion of places where groups gather should not ignore the sundeck. Here's the meeting place where the world situation, State's stellar basketball team, flaring love affairs and prospective dates are mulled over by the balcony crowd.

Everyone knows everyone at State, or so goes the saying. And it's pretty well justified. Along with friendliness, spirit and spunk are the keynotes of State's successes, whether fighting for a winning football team or for a new campus.

A new term . . . and despite world confusion, there are great things in the offing. You are in college now. Be interested. Ask about organizations, student government, the new campus, our athletic program, or anything.

A student body card seems to be a one-way ticket into the heart of school activities . . . dances (Hello Day dance, February 23), sports, drama productions, voting privileges, a free issue of the weekly publication and numerous other advantages. Buy one and become part of State.

Student Body Card Season in Gatorland Arrives With Start of Student Registration

By Beverley Kaster

Once again "Student Body Card" season is here. It makes its appearance just as faithfully as do all of the other seasons, and perhaps a little more so. The four commonly known seasons get to show themselves only once a year, but student body cards bloom twice each and every year.

Every time you stop to talk to someone you are going to hear the same three words mentioned—student body cards. It is the talk of all circles: athletic, social and business. To be an apt conversationalist you're going to have to have a card to talk about.

As you turn each corner on the campus you will bump into someone eager to question you as to your aims toward this same subject. Don't try taking the dark and less frequented routes, for someone else will be there, too. Your only passport to safety will be a card.

In passing through the hut to pay your fees, the beaming faces of gorgeous gals and handsome guys will all be focused on you with one thought: "Are you going to buy a student body card?" They will be more than willing to exchange a new wallet-size piece of cardboard for your old and wrinkled $8.00.

Once you get inside the gym for programming the counselors are going to look at you doubtfully and questioningly as to your judgment and discrimination until you let it be known that you have a card.

When the term starts and you rush up to get your copy of the Golden Gater, you'll be told that it is free to you because you're a student body card holder.

Next Saturday night when you hurry up to the new gym for the basketball game with Sacramento State, you can put your money back into your wallet, for they will tell you all they want to see is your card.

Each time you start to purchase a dance ticket, a drama production ticket, or your yearbook you will find that you will be asked for your student body card, and then you'll get part of your money back.

You are being treated so royally because you're a member, a member of the greatest organization on campus—The Associated Students.

What Your Eight Dollars Buys

Listed below are some of the advantages and benefits which you are entitled to through the purchase of an Associated Student Body Card:

1. Participation in student government and student activities.
2. Free admission to all athletic events.
3. Ten per cent cafeteria discounts.
4. Reduced admission fee to dances.
5. Reduced collegiate drama and opera admissions.
6. Free post box and mail service.
7. Fifty per cent reduction on street car tickets.
8. Free copies of the Golden Gater.
9. Free check cashing service.
10. Merchandise discounts on tires, gas, oil, typewriters, dry cleaning, auto repairs, restaurants.
11. Use of athletic facilities at the gym, new campus.
12. Reduced rates for the college annual.

State's Side

By Marv Cohn
Sports Editor

We might as well start right off by sticking our neck out all the way. Then, as the semester progresses, we can start pulling it back in, issue by issue, as we get our dainty ears inevitably slapped down—or is it back? Which way do ears go when they get slapped?

Anyway, we noticed, maybe you did too, a little item in a recent issue of the San Francisco Chronicle that said Joe Verducci. football coach and State's new director of athletics, wanted the Far Western Conference to waive the rule forbidding transfer students to compete in intercollegiate competition for one year after entering a new school. "Verdooch" also said that lifting of the ban would not affect any athlete now enrolled at State. Let's call this item number one.

Item number two can be a reminder—before coming to State, Coach Joe was head man at S.F.'s Poly High. Under his command the Polys won so many games they were being called the Notre Dame of the preps. Then Verducci went on to redder and bluer pastures at St. Mary's. At Moraga he had a little bad luck in the win column department, but his players were semper fidelis, always faithful. Some even followed him all the way to St. Mary's from high school, just so they could play under him.

For our third item, we can use the fact that ol' St. Mary's just up and quit football a few weeks ago, leaving a lot of fine undergrad gridders without a grid to gambol upon.

Now, when you put them all together, they might not spell MOTHER, but they do tend to spell out a brighter grid future for the Gators. If Verducci's recommendation that the transfer ban be lifted, and it probably will in view of the current draft panic, if approved, we seem to think that a lot of the homeless Gael gridders will start pushing their way to the front of the registration lines this week. After all, if fellows like Bill Bare, Dave Marcelli, Harry Atkinson and a couple of others followed Coach Joe since high school, why should they stop now?

State will win the Far Western Conference football crown in 1951. This is a rather long range prediction. If it comes true, fine. If it doesn't, well, we'll probably be tucked away in a nice, comfy Korean foxhole by then, and State's football fortunes might not be the uppermost thing in our mind at the time.

But getting back to the more pleasant things, can you imagine what the State 1950 FWC championship team, bolstered by the likes of Sam Bombiani or John Henry Johnson might be like? It might not be able to subdue powerhouses like Army or big brother California, but it could sure hold its own against such opponents as COP, San Jose State, and maybe even USF and Santa Clara. Of course, we might not get a chance to meet these outfits, but then again perhaps we could. These days most anything can, and does happen in the world of sports.

Bombiani, you might recall, is the fleet Gael scatback who raced 98 yards for a touchdown against California last season (no mean trick) through the Bear line. The speedster has a double incentive to drive him to State. One, to play football, and two, to be with his old home town pal, John DeGennaro, himself a State gridder.

Atkinson, who attended summer session here last year, was after Verducci to let him play for the Gators last season, we hear via the grapevine; but Joe said that it would better for his future if Harry played for Ruetz at St. Mary's. "Verdooch" is that kind of a guy. That's why the boys like him.

This all sounds fine on paper, but there might be one little hitch. There lives, in some far away city, a man named Hershey (and he doesn't make candy bars). This fellow has the disturbing habit of sending out post cards to certain eligible bachelors. Included in this group most probably are the aforementioned Bombiani and Bare and Johnson, etc., and if they play for Mr. Hershey instead of Mr. Verducci, State will be right back where it started. Just a measly championship team. Terrible thing!

Baseball Signup

Varsity baseball practice will begin on February 12 at the new campus, Coach Dick Boyle announced today. Uniforms will be issued, starting today and until February 9, at the new campus. Freshmen and junior college transfers are eligible.

Gators, Broncs Box Friday Eve.

Coach Joe Ferem and his 1951 boxing squad will make their first home appearance this Friday night at the State new gym, when they host Santa Clara. The 40 scheduled bouts will begin at 8 o'clock.

This will be the first time that a boxing match has been held in the State gym since its completion in December. It will also be the first time a Ferem coached boxing team has appeared before State rooters.

During the week bouts will be held here on the campus to decide the top man in the 125 and 145 lb. classes. In the 125 lb. class Tony Jeong, Steve Genis and Joe Marks will contend for the top spot, while John Bohman, Mort Kaufman and Elliot Jacobs will battle for leadership of the 145's.

Other men on the squad who will box Friday night are John Fawcett, 130; Bob Kaffke, 135; Roy Smith, 155; and Frank Edwards, 175.

The Gators are still looking for a man to box in the 165 class. Until someone is found this weight must be forfeited.

Santa Clara has already defeated Stanford this season. The Gators have lost to San Jose State.

The Gators' schedule is as follows:

Friday night—Santa Clara, here.
Feb. 16—Cal Poly, there.
Feb. 24—Chico State, here.
March 2—Cal Aggies, there.
March 6—S. F City College, there.
March 9, 10—Idaho Intermountain, there.
March 16 and 17—Far Western Conference, Chico.

DeLeon Stars In Soccer Tilt

Carlos DeLeon, San Francisco State soccer ace, was one of the stars in the recent USF-Conference All-Stars clash. The Dons took the match, 5-2, with DeLeon scoring one goal for the All-Stars.

Kev Duggan Leads Vacation Wins

Star Center Bags 214 Points In Nine 'In-Between' Games

By Toni Robinson

Kevin Duggan led the Gator cagers in scoring throughout the nine contests played between terms. Continuing his high average, the local star scored 214 points, bringing his seasonal total to 502 with seven games still to be played.

Among the important events of the vacation was the loss and regaining of the Far Western Conference title by State. At present the Gators have six wins and two losses in the conference for .750 percentage with Southern Oregon a close second with .700.

Southern Oregon fell to the Gators, 55-44, in their first contest, but quickly rebounded the following night to win, 58-56. Duggan led in scoring each night with 16 and 27.

Chico State two weeks later took the first game, 58-55, to hold the conference first place for one night.

The next evening the Gators toppled them to second place with a 56-54 win. Duggan tallied 23 and 28 in the contests. His 23 points the first night was enough to break State's seasonal scoring record of 520 set by John Burton in 1948.

TAKE HUMBOLDT TWICE

On the northern trip last weekend, the Gators retained their conference lead by downing Humboldt State, 68-38 and 72-45. Duggan held his average with 18 and 31 points.

Three of the Gators' most exciting games took plpace during finals week. On Wednesday of that week the Staters lost an overtime contest to the San Jose Spartans, 62-60. The game went into overtime as the result of a 58-58 tie at the end of the regular playing time. Although Kevin Duggan scored 39 points during the game, John Walsh was the only Gator able to score in the extra period.

Two days later Gators gave another inspired performance as they defeated College of Pacific, 56-50. This was probably the team's outstanding group effort of the season to date. Duggan again led with 21 points.

LOSE TO SACRAMENTO

The following night on the Sacramento State College court, the locals couldn't get off of their own feet as Sacramento won 45-43. Even the high scoring Duggan couldn't find the basket as he scored only 11 points. Carl Youngstrom won the scoring honors with 13.

During the first game against the Southern Oregon Red Raiders, guard Roy Weisser broke a finger on his right hand and has been sidelined ever since. Weisser is expected to return to the court this week-end against College of Pacific.

Track Schedule For '51 Season Is Announced

Coach Ray Kaufman announced the 1951 track schedule last week, and at the same time, he issued a call for all able-bodied males, with or without experience, to try their hand at success on the cinderpaths.

"I'd like to talk to all men who even think they have ability," commented Coach Kaufman. "I can usually be reached in the men's gym or on the lower field when there is practice."

Even though there are spots open for new men, Kaufman feels that the team, now, can make a good showing for itself in this season's meets.

Leading this season's parade of track talent will be three time Far Western Conference champ broad jumper Bob Keropian. Bob is returning for his last year of competition. In the sprints, the Gators will feature Charlie Parish and last year's frosh flash, Len Posey. Parish will also hold down the No. 1 hurdler position. In the distance events, the Gators will sport Dale Sharp and Dave Vickers.

In the field events, Bill Miller and Steve Morger will be Kaufman's shot putters. Big Herb Franklin will fling the javelin and Herb Anderson will handle the discus. Bruce Duncan will vault with the pole.

HAS TEAM OPENINGS

State's main deficits are in the high jump and middle-distance events. If these spots could be filled up, the coaching staff believes that State could field a better-than-average aggregation. Lost from the middle-distance ranks this season were Chuck Crawford, Sam Levine and Norm Travis. These men also represented three-fourths of the Conference winning 1950 relay team.

Assistant track coach this season will be Joe Moore, last season's jayvee football mentor.

The schedule is as follows:

March 17—San Mateo and Marin J. C. at State.
March 24—U.S.F. at State.
March 31—San Jose State and Olympic Club at San Jose.
April 7—Cal Aggies at Davis.
April 14—Southern Oregon and Humboldt State at State.
April 21—Santa Clara at State.
April 28—College of Pacific at State.
May 5—All Far Western Conference at State.
May 12—West Coast Relays at Fresno.

State Sluggers Look Forward To Brighter Days

San Francisco State's baseball team returns to the diamond wars this spring with Coach Dick Boyle at the helm. However, as is the case in most schools, the coach will find that many of last year's veterans have been signed by Uncle Sam to play in the big show.

Those returning are Lenny Cahen, Earl Clayton, Ernie Domecus, George Gmahling, Chris Makras, Don McCarthy and perhaps John Walsh. Some outside help might be on the way in the form of "rookies" from junior college and high schools which serve as farm clubs, namely, the faces seem to be Hook Arata (CCSF), Benja Davis (Commerce), Ernie DeMatei (Balboa) and Dick Hanlon (Lincoln).

Now with these new boys and the vets, State has the nucleus and the possibility to become top team in the league. Last year, in league competition, the Gators lost a double header to Chico State in the waning days of competition and dropped into second plpace, where they wound up the season.

Jayvee Five Meets Santa Rosa

Coach Ray Kaufman's junior varsity basketballers will try to even up their ten win, eleven loss record on February 14, when they meet Santa Rosa Junior College at the new gym. The game will be the preliminary to the State-YMI varsity tilt.

Kaufman's club suffered somewhat when they lost their star center, Bob Childs, to the armed services. Owen Kashevaroff, high scoring guard, is also slated to get his greetings before the end of the season.

Bill Harkness Announces Spring Mural Program

William Harkness, Director of Intramurals, announced the spring semester intramural athletic program last week. Thirteen different events, offering the widest variety of sports, will be made available to all who wish to compete.

All individuals not already participating as individuals or as a member of an organized team are eligible to compete. The schedules will be divided into different ability levels, class A, class B or freshman leagues, and novice, all-college and open class tournaments, thus making the program available to all, regardless of previous experience.

The mural program, besides giving an outlet to those who do not wish to become members of intercollegiate teams, opens a large field to those who wish to gain experience as managers, trainers, coaches, publicity workers, officials, record keepers, etc.

Sports to be offered this semester will include speedball, softball, volley-ball, badminton, tennis, football penthalon, track, horseshoes, golf, table tennis, swimming, basketball, and a photography and poster contest.

For further information, see Mr. Harkness in the men's training quarters.
